Good morning Mike,

Let me know if you still want to discuss CryptoProgram. I interviewed Ed Zimbardi last Sunday in St Augustine, thought this might interest you.

We have a lot of people moving over from NT these days looking for a new home. Also I wrote a description of what the business model is that should help to fully understand exactly what they are doing.

Watch the video here: <https://fireteam1.com>

Here is my back office as of this morning. Notice the top 2 boxes Tier One Referrals and Tier Two this is the monthly residual income that will be generated. So far been in this for 9 weeks, have put over $57,000 in my pocket, generated over $17,000 in passive referral income, I've met Ed Zimbardi twice and feel very good about this.

For guys like us we have to honestly assess the real risk. There is still the possibility that this is a Ponzi. Why do I say that? Because Ed won't reveal the company that is deploying the Adwords, it is possible that it's a money game. I don't believe that it is, but there is still that chance.

if it is a money game, I think it has 2 to 3 years of life in it and I let everyone I put in know there is always risk, even in Nova Tech which is why I never got into that.

If you decide to take the plunge on this I'll do my best to support your efforts with Zoom meetings and access to my assistant Jaz when you need her.

Scott
